

This Week from the Mayor

MAY 25, 2017

Memorial Day ceremony honors our veterans

Memorial Day is a special holiday, that one day when we come together to honor all those who have made the ultimate sacrifice for our nation.

For a time, it seemed Memorial Day was at risk of being just another day off work and lost in the anticipation of summer activities to come. In recent years, though, it has returned to a place of honor as our country has developed a renewed respect for the sacrifices made by our servicemen and women.

I hope you will join with city leaders and veterans at our Memorial Day ceremony on Monday, May 29, at 1 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Park (523 S. Third St.). The ceremony will honor veterans and include the laying of wreaths to represent the five branches of the military. Veterans Memorial Park contains nearly 2,000 etched marble plaques, each honoring a military veteran with ties to the city.

National Public Works Week

Our public works crews are the city's unsung heroes. When a storm hits, they're immediately on the front lines clearing what has fallen or fixing what has broken, no matter the hour. They also oversee our maintenance, transportation and utilities. Their work is instrumental in maintaining our everyday life and is the result of hours of preparation and training. These are just some of the reasons I've proclaimed this week National Public Works Week.

Farmers Market kicks off 16th year on June 6

I hope you'll join me for the opening of the Renton Farmers Market on June 6, at 3 p.m. at The Piazza downtown. For me, the market opening is the unofficial start to a summer full of community activities in Renton.

The farmers market is a true family event, featuring farm-fresh produce, food, activities for kids, entertainment, shopping tips and recipe demonstrations.

If you can't make opening day, the market runs every Tuesday from 3 to 7 p.m. through September 26.
